Qianjiang, Canyon City
in Wuling Mountains

Qianjiang is positioning itself as a crucial hub within Chongqing municipality and western China. This will see development as a regional economic centre, the development of cultural and tourism resources, becoming a cluster area for the development of specialised industries, a demonstration area for regional collaborative development, a centre for public services, and a centre for connecting the region to the world. Above this though, Qianjiang aims to build a liveable environment offering a great lifestyle.

As Qianjiang becomes a key logistics centre and major urban hub in southeast Chongqing in the Wuling Mountains, it will play an ever greater role in the Chongqing and the greater Chengdu-Chongqing economic area.
